

CONTRIBUTORS

Suzanna T. Adamyants, Senior lecturer English Language Department No 6, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). She holds a PhD in law. She is acting as Political science specialist and Head of analytics (Foreign policy Department, State Russian news agency). She is also a special correspondent (TASS).

Ekaterina A. Antyukhova, PhD (Political Science) is Associate Dean of the School of Governance and Politics, a Senior lecturer at the Department of Comparative Political Science and a science policy manager, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). She graduated from Lomonosov Moscow State University with honours in International Relations (2012). In 2015, she completed her postgraduate doctoral course at MGIMO University and in 2016 presented a PhD thesis on the political issues of international relations and global development. She is a member of the Management Board of the Russian Association of Political Science. Her expertise lies in the areas of the modern international relations, world politics, problems of NATO activities and valueaxiomatics of the educational space

Polina S. Artemova, has been a Lecturer in the Public Governance Department, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University) since 2017, where she teaches Theory of Management, Innovation Management, IT in Public Administration, and English language. She holds a BA in Law, an MA in Public and Municipal Administration from MGIMO University, and an MA in International Public and Business Administration from UNIMC. Her research interest include: Public Administration, innovations, system of education, Modern Technologies of Administration and Management, and Economics.

Victoria V. Artiukh, is a Lecturer at the English Language Department No 6 of the School of Governance and Politics, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). She graduated from MGIMO-University with the qualification Economist in 2014. In 2016, she got a master degree in Economics in MGIMO-University. Since 2016, she has been working at MGIMO-University teaching General English and English for Specific Purposes. Her current research interests include banking business, private banking, international economic relations, world trade.

Anatoliy Yu. Belogurov, PhD (Education) is a Doctor Habil., Professor at the Department of Pedagogy and Psychology, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University) (76, Prospect Vernadskogo, Moscow, 119454, Russia). From 2015 until present - Professor of the Department of Pedagogy and Psychology of the Moscow Institute of International Relations of the Russian Federation Ministry of Foreign Relationships. From February 2013 - Deputy Director of «Moscow Institute of Education» Moscow Department of Education. Full member of the European Academy of Natural History; Member of the International Pedagogical Academy; Corresponding Member of the International Academy of Science Teacher Education. He has published over 330 scientific papers on philosophy and sociology of education. For his contribution to the development of Russian pedagogy and education awarded the 'Medal of K. Ushinsky'.

Vladimir E. Berezko, Associate Professor at the Department of Public Governance, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). In 1985, he graduated from the Kostroma Higher Military Command School of Chemical Defence. In 1995, Vladimir Berezko graduated from the Moscow State University, Faculty of Journalism. Then, in 2016, he graduated from the Moscow Finance and Law University. He holds a PhD in Law (legal sciences, thesis topic: 'Constitutional and legal views of Chicherin'). Vladimir Berezko teaches several courses at the MGIMO-University (History of Political and Legal Doctrines, History of State and Law of Foreign Countries, Foundations of Public and Municipal Administration, Public and Municipal Service). His recent research interests focus on the history of state construction and public administration, the history of political and legal doctrines, and the scientific basis of public service.

Ksenia S. Dorenko, Senior Lecturer of Public Governance Department, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University), since 2009. She has a Master in Management (Public and Municipal Administration). from the International Institute of Management, MGIMO and a Master of Business Administration in Project Management from the Russian Presidential Academy of National Economy and Public Administration (RANEPA). The courses she has taught at MGIMO University include Theory of Management, Strategic Management, Social psychology, Conflict Management.

Oleg E. Dregnin, deputy Dean of School of Governance and Politics and Lecturer of the Public Administration Department, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). In 2011, he entered MGIMO-University and graduated from it as BA with honors in the field of management (2015). In 2017, he successfully completed the MA programme 'State and Municipal Administration' with honors. In 2015, he was hired by the audit department of Deloitte & Touche CIS. In 2017, he left Deloitte & Touche CIS and joined the MGIMO-University as a deputy Head of Corporate and Project Management Department. Later on, he was promoted and, since November 2017, he has worked as a deputy Dean of School of Governance and Politics and a Lecturer of the Public Administration Department. Major fields of research: innovations, modern technologies of administration and management, economics.

Alla V. Endoltseva, Professor with the Department of Legal Foundations of Administration at the Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). Her experience of work in the field of jurisprudence is 32 years, in research or teaching positions is 19 years. She has been with MGIMO University since 2000. In her research activities, Ms. Endoltseva focuses on ensuring the rights and lawful interests of individuals in criminal proceedings and the issues related to the application of rules governing excuse from criminal responsibility. She has more than 100 publications, including five monographs and over 70 research articles, is a co-author and scientific editor of 19 published and well-known textbooks and teaching aids with respect to criminal law, criminal procedure, public prosecutors' supervision, and law enforcement authorities.

Olga V. Fedyanina, Trade Advisor for the British Embassy in Moscow, PhD candidate at Moscow State Institute of International Relations, Department of International Finance, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). Olga Fedyanina graduated from the Ryazan State University named after S.A.Yesenin (degree with honours). She holds an MA in International Relations (Exeter University, UK) and an MA in Management (MGIMO-University). Olga Fedyanina is an active participant in university and international conferences. She has published in various journals on world economy. Main areas of research: international finance, financial institutions, financial capital, M&A.

Sergey G. Kamolov, PhD, Head of Public Governance Department, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). Graduated with Honour from the Faculty of International Economic Relations of MGIMO University in 1995. Holds PhD in International Economics since 1998. Dr Kamolov worked over 10 years as an executive public servant in Russia, managed investors' relations, finance and auditing. 2003–2009 — First Vice Mayor of the Odintsovo Municipality, 2011–2013 — First Vice Minister of ITC of the Moscow Region, 2013–2014 — First Vice Prime Minister of the Penza Region, 2014–2015 — Head of Inspectorate for Industry, Space and IT of the Accounts Chamber of the Russian Federation. Since 2012 has been lecturing at School of Governance and Politics of MGIMO University on the following courses: Theory of Management, Strategic Management, Conflictology, Innovations Management and IT in Public Management.

Julia A. Karaulova, Associate Dean of the School of Governance and Politics, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). She is also an Associate Professor at English Language Department No 6, MGIMO-University. Diploma(s) or Degree(s) Obtained: 1991 — Russian Peoples Friendship University, Bachelor's degree with merit; 2009 — Ph. D. in Law ('Legal Regulation and Copyright Protection on the Internet'). Major Fields of Research Interest: Copyright Protection, Contract Law, Comparative Corporate Law, Corporate Governance, Legal Regulation of Public Administration.

Marina V. Khlopkova, PhD (Philology), Associate Professor, Deputy Head of Department, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). She holds an MSc in Linguistics from Moscow Pedagogical State University. Major Fields of Research Interest: Public Administration, innovative systems of education, innovative methods of teaching foreign languages, comparative linguistics. Since 2008 has been teaching at School of Governance and Politics of MGIMO University the following courses: English Language for Management, English Language for Public Administration, and English for Specific Purposes.

Mikhail B. Klimenko, Lecturer, Department of English language No 6, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). He has an MA and a MBA. In 1984, he graduated from Moscow State University, Department of Humanities. He has worked as a teacher of Russian language for American Council of Teachers of Russian (ACTR) courses in Moscow, Russia. In 1992, he was invited to work as a Russian Curriculum Consultant at the New York State Education Department. In 1995, he graduated from Indiana University of Pennsylvania, Indiana, PA, USA with MA in TESOL/TEFL. He also received an MBA in Management and Finance in 2000 from R. E. Crummer Graduate Business School at Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida, USA. In 2002 moved back to Russia.

Nikolay I. Klimovich, Candidate of Philology, Associate Professor with English Department No 6, School of Governance and Politics, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University).

Sergei S. Komarov, Associate Dean of the School of Governance and Politics, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). He has previously (2015-2017) served as an analyst in Interium Digital Agency. From 2017 to 2018, he was a Lecturer at the Department of Public, Municipal Administration and Social Processes at the Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University) (Odintsovo Campus). During 2018, he was appointed Lecturer at the Department of Public Administration, acting as Dean's Delegate on International Programs. Finally, from 2018 until today, he is deputy Dean for International Cooperation at the School of Governance and Politics of the Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University).

Nikita A. Kovalev, Senior Lecturer at the Department of English language No 6, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). Nikita A. Kovalev is a senior for the following courses: Political Translation, English for Specific Purposes, General English. He graduated with honours from Moscow Pedagogical State University in 2009 with a Master's Degree in Linguistics. He worked at English-speaking school #1253 for four years (2007-2011), and then joined the MGIMO teaching faculty in 2011. N. Kovalev is in charge of the Translation/Interpretation course for students of the third year. The subject areas include translation/interpretation and training interpreters.

Jury K. Krasnov, Professor, Department of Legal Support of Administration School of Governance and Politics, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University).

Denis A. Kuznetsov, Assistant Lecturer at the Department of World Politics, editorial board member of peer-reviewed academic journal 'Comparative Politics Russia', Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). He is an expert on transregional cooperation.

Ivan D. Loshkariov, Lecturer, Department of Political Theory, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University), PhD (Political Science) He graduated from MGIMO-University (Moscow) where he received his Bachelor of Area Studies and his Master of International Relations. His major specializations are post-Soviet studies, new approaches to IR theory and migration problems.

Elena A. Maslova, PhD in Political Science. She graduated from Lomonosov Moscow State University with honours in International Relations; she completed a post-graduate doctoral course at MGIMO-University and presented a PhD thesis on Italy's foreign policy during the Second Republic. Since 2013, she has worked at the Chair of Integration Studies at MGIMO-University currently as an Associate Professor and as a Senior Research Fellow at the Centre for Black Sea and Mediterranean Studies at the Institute of Europe, Russian Academy of Sciences (RAS). She has also worked as a science policy manager in MGIMO-University from 2013 to 2019. Her research interests include European affairs and the European Union, Italian foreign and domestic policies, Black Sea and Mediterranean studies. 'Valdai' discussion club expert, Russian International Affairs Council (RIAC) expert.

Anatoly S. Muntyan, Lecturer, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). Diploma(s) or Degree(s) Obtained: Diploma in Management (2010) MGIMO-University; Diploma in Linguistics (2017) Moscow State Linguistic University. Major Fields of Research Interest: English for Special Purposes (English of Public Administration and Management, English of Political Science and International Relations), Political Science, Economics, History.

Yulia A. Nikitina, Associate Professor of World Politics and Leading Research Fellow at the Center for the Post-Soviet Studies at Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). She is a specialist of security politics in Eurasia with a focus on regional organisations. She has written several articles and policy papers on relations between Russia and the West.

Daniil A. Parenkov, a Lecturer in the Department of Political Theory, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). He obtained his Bachelor's degree in Comparative Politics from MGIMO-University in 2010. In 2012, he completed his M. A. in International Journalism at the same university and continued his studies as a PhD candidate. Since 2013 Daniil is a lecturer at the Department of Political Theory. His teaching experience include Political Philosophy, Political Psychology and Public Policy Analysis. Daniil's current research interests include religious lobbying and religion in international relations. His PhD thesis focuses on the Roman Catholic Church lobbying activities in the USA.

Alexandr N. Perepelkin, Representative of Visionserve (Cyprus) in Russia, Visiting Lecturer, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). Alexandr Prepelkin studied at the Cyprus International Institute of Management (Financial Management). Since 2010, he is a representative of the consulting, accounting, and auditing company C.P. Christodoulou & Co Ltd (Cyprus) in Russia. Before that, he worked as a Financial Director of Roosis Holdings Ltd (Nicosia), the official partner of SIEMENS in the field of telecommunications in projects for the modernisation of communication networks in the Middle East. Since 2011, he has been a visiting lecturer at MGIMO University. He teaches disciplines related to offshore business and international cash flow management.

Natalya I. Platonova, Candidate of Law, Associate Professor with the Department of Legal Foundations of Governance, School of Governance and Politics, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University).

Anna N. Polyakova, Senior Lecturer in the English Language Department No 6, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian

Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University), since 2005. She has a Diploma in Law from MGIMO-University. Her courses include English for Special Purposes (Legal English, English of Public Administration and Management, English of Political Science and International Relations). Along with her interest in ESP, she also researches Corporate Law, Corporate Governance and Political Science.

Leili R. Rustamova, Assistant Lecturer at the Department of World Politics, expert of PhD and postgraduate study Department Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). She is a researcher at the Primakov National Research Institute of World Economy and International Relations (IMEMO). L. Rustamova is an expert on soft power.

Henry T. Sardaryan, Dean of the School of Governance and Politics, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). Between 2014-2016, he has served as deputy Director of the International Institute of Administration, MGIMO-University; from 2016 to 2017, he was acting Dean of the Public Administration Faculty, MGIMO-University; between 2017-2018, he was acting Dean of the School of Governance and Politics, MGIMO-University. From 2018 until today, he serves as Dean of the School of Governance and Politics, MGIMO-University. Moreover, since 2015, he has been a Visiting Professor at the University of Macerata (Italy).

Ellina A. Shamanina, Lecturer in the Department of Economic Policy and Public-Private Partnership, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). She graduated from MGIMO-University with a Master's degree (honours) in Management (master's programme 'Public-private partnerships'). She is an Assistant Lecturer at the Department of Economic Policy and Public-Private Partnership in MGIMO-University and PhD candidate (specialization: World economy) at the Department of Economic Policy and Public-Private Partnership of the MGIMO-University. In 2017, she participated in a scientific project on making recommendations for PPP legal framework development in the Russian Federation, taking into account the analysis of the best foreign practices in the field of PPP regulation. In March 2018, Ellina Shamanina completed the qualification-upgrading programme 'Investment Project Management based on the PPP principles' held by the PPP Development Institute in cooperation with the Department of Economic Policy and PPP (MGIMO-University), and the PPP

Development Center. In December 2018, she completed the qualification-upgrading programme ‘Mathematical Methods for scientific research’, organised by the Department for Mathematics, Econometrics and IT (MGIMO-University). Her research interests are mainly focused on Public-Private Partnerships (PPP’s), international practices of PPP, social policy, socially responsible business, social investments, social infrastructure development, cooperation between government and business.

Anna U. Solovieva-Oposhnyanskaya, Lecturer, Department of Legal Support of Administration, School of Governance and Politics, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University).

Alexey S. Teteryuk, Lecturer in the Department of Political Theory, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). He obtained his Bachelor’s degree in Political Science from MGIMO in 2013. In 2015, he completed his MA in Political Expertise and GR-Strategies in the MGIMO-University and continued his studies as a PhD candidate. Since 2018, he serves as Lecturer at the Department of Political Theory. His teaching experience includes Modern Euro-lobbyism, International Government Relations and GR-management. Moreover, he studied at the Grenoble School of Management (2017-2018). Since 2014, he held several positions in pharmaceutical industry, and in the sector of government affairs and Policy. He has worked, inter alia, for AbbVie, Johnson & Johnson, Ketchum Maslov. He is author to 22 publications on topics such as international relations, conflicts, government relations and lobbying.

Vasily N. Tkachev, Associate Professor of Finance, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). He holds a PhD in Economics. He is also a leader of the MGIMO-University MBA Specialisation Module ‘Financial Director’. He is a Senior Visiting Fellow at the Henley Business School (UK). He serves the Central Bank of Russia external expert at the Council of Eurasian Economic Union Financial Integration. Moreover, he acts as Scientific Advisor to the MGIMO Finance Club. He has over 20 years of teaching experience in the field of finance. He is either the author or co-author of over 30 articles and monographs on corporate and international finance.

Robert V. Yengibaryan, Full Professor, Honoured Scholar of the Russian Federation, Academic Supervisor of the Faculty of Governance and Politics, Moscow

State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). Professor Yengibariyan is Editor-in-Chief of academic research journal Law and Administration: XXI Century. He is the author of more than 200 academic work textbooks, monographs, and articles. He is the author of such books as Comparative Constitutional Law, Constitutional Law, State and Law Theory, Constitutional Developments in Modern World, serving as grounds for the professional development of a wide range of Russian lawyers and public administrators.

Sergey A. Zabelin, Senior Research Fellow at the Institute of Europe, Russian Academy of Sciences (RAS). He is also a representative (national director) of the Russian Federation in the Board of Directors, the International Centre for Black Sea Studies (Athens). He graduated from the Department of Classical Philology, Moscow State University (1995-2000) and completed an internship at the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens (October 2002 – June 2003). His main research interests are devoted to the Black Sea Region, the EU, Black Sea countries, European Neighborhood Policy (Eastern Partnership), BSEC Organization, Greece and Cyprus issues. He is fluent in both English and Greek.

Elena B. Zavyalova, Head of the Department of Economic Policy and Public-Private Partnerships, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University), Associate Professor of the Department of Economic Policy and Public-Private Partnerships, Moscow State Institute of International Relations (University) of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Relations (MGIMO-University). She graduated from the MGIMO-University (degree with honours). She holds a PhD in Economics. Elena Zavyalova teaches various courses at MGIMO-University, such as Russian Economy, Economy of the Former Soviet Countries, National Economic Security, Economic Policy, Public-Private Partnership, Sustainable Development and International Development Assistance. She is an active participant in several international scientific programmes, including programmes of the World Bank, and Beijing Normal University (China). She is a co-author to several research papers for the Ministry of Economic Development of the Russian Federation, and author to over 60 scientific publications. Elena Zavyalova was awarded several distinctions; indicatively, she is a holder of the Certificate of Honour of the Council of the Federation of the Federal Assembly (Russian Federation), and recipient of the Reward ‘200th Anniversary of the Ministry of the Foreign Affairs’.

