

CONTRIBUTORS

Aigbiremhon Jennifer Airiarebhe, PhD candidate, Taraba State University, Department of Political Science and International Relations, Taraba State University, Jalingo, Taraba State, Nigeria. Her research interest is in the areas of women studies, development studies, comparative studies and African studies. She is a member of the International Association for Political Science Students (IAPSS).

Argyriou Sophia, Researcher. Sophia Argyriou holds a PhD from the Department of Political Science and History of Panteion University. She is the author of The National Movement of Greek Cypriots during the Last Period of British Colonial Rule 1950-1960, Athens: Asini, 2017 [in Greek] as well as numerous articles. Her main research interests focus on the history of Cyprus and on the study of nationalism and colonialism.

Christofi Andreas, PhD Candidate, Department of History and Archaeology, University of Cyprus. His research interests focus on the history of the Greek national movement and the political and ecclesiastical history of Cyprus in the 20th century.

Çirakoğlu Gizem, graduate of Translation and Interpreting Studies at Boğaziçi University. She has also completed a master's in English Literatures at Keele University, UK. She is currently engaged in a research cluster with Taraba State University, Department of Political Science and International Relations, Taraba State University, Jalingo, Taraba State, Nigeria. Gizem has a passion for learning languages, exploring literature, doing research and writing articles. Her research interests include but are not limited to emotions in learning and teaching, English language teaching methodologies, second language acquisition, and English literature.

Çirakoğlu Kayıhan, graduate of Political Science and Public Administration, Bilkent University. He has also completed a Master's in Politics and International Relations, with a Diplomatic Studies pathway at Keele University, UK. He is currently engaged in a research cluster with Taraba State University, Department of Political Science and International Relations, Taraba State University, Jalingo, Taraba State, Nigeria. Kayıhan research interests are on the areas of but not limited to blockchain, digitalization in politics, conflict resolution, international relations theory, security, international political economy, ancient history.

Emilianides Achilles C., Professor of Law, Dean, School of Law, University of Nicosia. Professor Emilianides is a practicing advocate, Professor of Law and Dean of the School of Law of the University of Nicosia. He is a Founding Member and Secretary-General of the Cyprus Academy of Sciences, Letters, and Arts, a member of the European Academy of Sciences and Arts, and the Cypriot representative to ALLEA (All European Academies). Recent major publications include: The Secret Negotiations. The establishment of the Republic of Cyprus (Papazisis, 2022, in Greek), The Confidential Negotiations on the SBAs (Hippasus, 2021), Competition Law in Cyprus (Kluwer, 2021), Tort Law in Cyprus (Kluwer, 2020), Civil Procedure in Cyprus (Kluwer, 2020), Religion and Law in Cyprus (3rd, Kluwer, 2019), Constitutional Law in Cyprus (2nd, Kluwer, 2019), Family and Succession Law in Cyprus (2nd, Kluwer, 2019), Labour Law in Cyprus (2nd, Kluwer, 2019), Media Law in Cyprus (2nd, Kluwer, 2019).

Fon Nguh Nwei Asanga, Research Fellow, International Governance Institute (IGI), Cameroon. His main research interests include governance, development studies, conflict resolution, foreign policy, and Africa in international relations. He has publications in peer reviewed journals, academic blogs and international conference presentations. He also serves as reviewer in two peer reviewed journals. Fon is a member of the International Association for Political Science Students (IAPSS).

Haritos Gavriel, Researcher, Ben Gurion Research Institute (Israel). Dr Haritos is also a Researcher at the Hellenic Foundation for European and Foreign Policy (ELIAMEP, Greece). He teaches History of the Political Relations between Cyprus, Israel and Greece at the University of Nicosia, at Panteion University (Greece) and at the Ben Gurion University of the Negev (Israel).

Hatzivassiliou Evanthis, Professor, Department of History and Archaeology, University of Athens. Evanthis Hatzivassiliou was born in 1966. He graduated from the Law School of the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki in 1987 and received his MA and his Ph.D. in International History from the London School of Economics in 1989 and 1992, respectively. He currently serves as Professor (Post-war History) at the Department of History and Archaeology of the University of Athens, and as the Secretary-General of the Hellenic Parliament Foundation for Parliamentarism and Democracy. He is the author of, among others, The Cyprus Question, 1878-1960: the Constitutional Aspect (Minneapolis: Minnesota Mediterranean and East European Monographs, 2002); 'Cyprus at the Crossroads, 1959-63', European History Quarterly, 35 (2005), pp. 523-540; 'The Ghost of Trials Past: Transitional Justice in Greece, 1974-5', Contemporary European History (2022), 31 (2022), pp. 286-298.

Iakovides Kyriacos, Lecturer, Neapolis University Pafos. Born in Limassol, 1984. BA Journalism (Queen Margaret University, Edinburgh). MA in History (Royal Holloway). PhD holder (University of Cyprus). Member of the research program 'Evrodaktilios', financed by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs (Cyprus). His work focuses on the evolution of the enosis movement during the British colonial rule in Cyprus.

Ioannou Gregoris, Lecturer in Employment Relations and Human Resource Management, Centre for Decent Work, University of Sheffield. Gregoris' research work is multi-thematic and interdisciplinary and focuses on labour relations and trade unionism, class conflicts and contentious politics. He has published in journals such as Mobilization: An International Quarterly, Industrial Relations Journal, Industrial Law Journal, European Journal of Industrial Relations, The German Journal of Industrial Relations and Capital and Class, and has served as an expert consultant for the European Commission, Eurofound, the European Trade Union Institute, Cyprus' Labour Institute and Friedrich Ebert Stiftung. Gregoris has authored two research monographs on the political economy of Cyprus' partition (Palgrave 2020) and the labour market of Southern Europe since the Crisis (Routledge 2021), and coedited a book on left radicalism and populism (Routledge 2019).

Isaia George, Operations Executive, Nomoplatform. He holds a BSc in Philosophy from the University of Cyprus and a Master's degree in Political Science from the same University. His main research interests include institutional advantages, pathogenesis, as well as possible ways of enhancing the existing parliamentary work in Cyprus.

Kastanas Ioannis, Adjunct Lecturer, Research Associate, Department of Law, School of Law, University of Nicosia. Dr Kastanas has graduated from the Law School of Athens (EKPA). From the same institution, he has acquired an LLM and a PhD degree. Moreover, he has acquired an M2 Droit Public Approfondi from the Université Paris 2 Panthéon Assas. His post-doc on the right to appeal before the Ecumenical Patriarch pursuant to the laws of the Church of Cyprus was carried out in the School of Law of the University of Nicosia, under the supervision of Dean Emilianides. His research areas include Canonical Law, Law and Religions, Fundamental Rights and Public Law. He has authored on the above areas in the Scientific Journals Nomokanonika and Theory and Praxis of Public Law, as well in collective volumes etc.

Kontos Michalis, Assistant Professor, Department of Politics and Governance, School of Law, University of Nicosia. Dr Kontos holds a Bachelor's degree in Political Science from National and Kapodestrian University of Athens, a Master's degree in International Relations and Strategic Studies from Panteion University, and a PhD in International Relations from the same University. His research interests revolve around international relations and strategic studies, with special focus on great power politics. He is a member of the Coordinating Committee of the Black Sea and East-ern Mediterranean Academic Network (BSEMAN).

Koutsoukis Nikitas-Spyros, Associate Professor, Department of Political Science and International Relations, University of Peloponnese. Dr. Koutsoukis has been a consultant to companies and organizations in the United Kingdom and Greece and has participated as a researcher and project manager in research projects funded by the EU, Unilever (UK), General Secretariat for Research and Innovation, etc. He is the author of numerous scientific articles, while he has participated as a speaker in a number of international and national conferences.

Kyriakides Klearchos A., Senior Visiting Fellow, School of Law, Cyprus Campus of the University of Central Lancashire (UCLan Cyprus). Dr Kyriakides was born in London in 1970, but has roots in various places, including the Turkish-occupied villages of Petra and Lysi in Cyprus. He was educated in the Universities of Birmingham, Cambridge and Westminster. In 2003, he qualified as a Solicitor of the Senior Courts of England and Wales, but in 2007 he voluntarily ceased practising law to focus on his academic career.

Lenshie Nsemba Edward, Teaching Staff in Political Science, Department of Political Science and International Relations, Taraba State University, Jalingo, Taraba State, Nigeria. He is completing his doctorate degree in the Department of Political Science, University of Nigeria, Nsukka. His articles have appeared in reputable journals, including Armed Forces and Society, Journal of Asian and African Studies, Democracy and Society, Local Environment and African Identities.

Lois Petros, Head of Department, Professor, School of Business, Department of Accounting, University of Nicosia. He holds an MSc degree in Accounting from De Montfort University, and a PhD degree in Marine Technology from Liverpool John Moores University. He is a Certified Management Accountant (CMA) and he holds the Chair of PwC in Business Research at the University of Nicosia. He is a member of the Institute of Certified Management Accountants of Australia (IC-MA), the Institute of Marine Engineers, Science and Technology (IMarEST, UK), and the National Bookkeepers Association (NBA, USA). He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Cyprus Port Authority (CPA). His research work has been published in international conference proceedings, books and journals.

Mallinson William, Professor of Political Ideas and Institutions, Guglielmo Marconi University. Professor Mallinson is a member of the editorial committee of the Journal of Balkan and Near Eastern Studies, and a former Member of Her Majesty's Diplomatic Service, who left to study for, and was awarded, his Ph.D. at the London School of Economics and Political Science's Department of International History. Following a period in business as European Public Affairs Manager at ITT's European Headquarters in Brussels, he turned his attention to the academic world, playing a pivotal role in introducing Britain's first Honours degree in Public Relations. He was Lecturer in British history, literature and culture at the Ionian University. He is an expert on Anglo-Greek diplomatic relations, and has written 13 books, many on Cyprus/Anglo-Greek relations. His latest is Guicciardini, Geopolitics and Geohistory: Understanding Inter-State Relations (Palgrave Macmillan/Springer Nature, 2021).

Melakopides Costas, Associate Professor (ret.), Department of Social and Political Sciences, University of Cyprus. Professor Melakopides studied Law, Philosophy and Political Studies in Athens, Canterbury (U.K.) and Kingston, Ontario. Before coming to Nicosia, in 1996, he taught at the University of Manitoba, the Royal Military College of Canada, and the Queen's University. His research interests and publications have included Canadian foreign policy, Greek-Turkish relations, the Cyprus problem, Russia-Cyprus relations, and International Ethics. His most recent book was Russia-Cyprus Relations: A Pragmatic Idealist Perspective (London: Palgrave, 2016).

Michiotis Athanasios, Professor of Business and Organizational Management, School of Social Sciences of the Hellenic Open University (HOU). He is the Director of the English-language Graduate Study Program "Business Administration (MBA)" of the HOU, a member of the Academic Supervisory Committee of the "Public Administration" Undergraduate Study Program of the HOU, as well as the Director of the Management and Public Administration Laboratory of the School of Social Sciences of the HOU. His research interests focus on Services Management.

Miapyen Buhari Shehu, Lecturer, Department of Political Science and International Relations, Taraba State University. His research interest is in the areas of inequality engendered by capitalism and how such different categories of inequalities are instrumentalised to promote capitalist mode of accumulation. His most recent work is in understanding the utility of Cedric Robinson's perspective in explaining racial capitalism in Africa, published by the Review of African Political Economy (ROAPE).

Ntalakos Angelos, PhD Candidate, Department of Business Administration, University of Thessaly, Greece. He has a Bachelor's Degree in Mathematics from University of Athens, a MSc. in Mathematical Education from University of Athens, and a MBA in Business Administration (with honours) from Open University of Cyprus, where he graduated first in his class. His research interests focus on leadership, management and human resources management. His PhD thesis research specializes in leadership, organizational behavior and group dynamics.

Panos Dionysis, Assistant Professor, Department of Communication and Internet Studies, Cyprus University of Technology. He holds a Ph.D., MA, and BA in Communication and Media from the University of Athens and a BA in Law from Democritus University. His recent research work focuses mainly on Social Media and Web communication, Misinformation and 'Memory Construction', Digital Archiving and Algorithmic Memory, and Digital Oral History. Dionysis Panos also has extensive professional experience in the Political Communication area. He carried out numerous major political communication projects and served as a Member of the Board of Directors of the Greek National Tourism Organization (GNTO) and as a Member of the Board of Directors of the Greek National Center for Security Studies (KEMEA).

Papageorgiou Thomas, Researcher, Cyprus Research Center. He holds a PhD from the Department of History and Archaeology of the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki. His research interests focus on the history of the Cypriot Enosis movement, with emphasis on the interwar period and especially the 1930s. His doctoral dissertation, titled The Cypriot Enosis Movement in Athens, 1931-1940: the British Reactions and the Attitude of the Greek Governments [Η Κυπριακή Ενωτική Κίνηση στην Αθήνα, 1931-1940: οι Βρετανικές Αντιδράσεις και η Στάση των Ελληνικών Κυβερνήσεων], was published in 2015 (En Typois Publications). He has published articles in scientific journals in Cyprus and Greece. He has worked intermittently as a Special Scientist at the Department of History and Archaeology of the University of Cyprus. During the current school year (2022-2023) he works as a researcher at the Cyprus Research Center, on a programme to set up the Archive for the History of the Greek Cypriot Education.

Papastylianos Christos, Associate Professor of Public Law, Department of Law, University of Nicosia. He holds a PhD from the European University Institute. His academic interests are on Constitutional Theory, Constitutional History, and Immigration Law.

Pierides Costis, Adjunct Lecturer, Department of Political Science, University of Crete. Dr Pierides teaches as an adjunct lecturer in the department of Political Science, University of Crete (2020-). He holds a PhD in Political Science, Political Science and History department, Panteion University. His research is focused on the study of social and electoral cleavages in Greece and he is the author of the book Social Cleavages and Electoral Behaviour in Modern Greece (2004-2018): Ideology, Religion, Values. He also holds an Msc in European Politics and Governance (2005-2006) from the London School of Economics and Political Science.

Repousis Spyros, Adjunct Faculty, School of Business, University of Nicosia. Dr Repousis has obtained a Master's degree in Banking and Finance from the University of Stirling, a Master's degree in MBA from the University of Nicosia, a Master's degree in International Relations and European Studies from the University of Nicosia, and a Ph.D. in Economics from the University of Peloponnese. His main research areas are in Banking, Finance, Fraud, and Money Laundering.

Rossidis Ioannis, Adjunct Faculty, School of Law, University of Nicosia. Dr. Ioannis Rossidis is an administrative scientist holding a PhD in Public Management. Over the last decade he has been teaching in undergraduate and post graduate programs in various Greek and Cypriot Universities. Dr. Rossidis has also worked as Financial Director in HQAA, as executive in Ministry of Finance, Piraeus Bank and ATE Bank. Dr. Rossidis, has authored numerous published papers. His research interests are public management, administrative science, e-governance.

Savvides Leandros, Independent Scholar, Visiting Lecturer, Global College (Nicosia), Visiting Lecturer, Larnaca College (Larnaca). His book 3D printing Cultures, Politics and Hackerspaces (Emerald Publishing), is a work at the intersection of cultural politics, the emergence of citizen science, and civil society interventions in shaping technology.

Stavrinides Mary-Ann, Advocate, Attorney of the Republic of Cyprus. LLB (Hons) University of Sheffield (1991). LL.M in Public International Law, University of Cambridge (1992). Barrister-at-Law (Gray's Inn) (1993). Advocate in Cyprus since 1994. Associate at Dr. Kypros Chrysostomides and Co (1994-1997). Joined in 1997 the Law Office of the Republic of Cyprus headed by the Attorney General of the Republic. Holds, since 2014, the position of Attorney of the Republic and heads the International Law Section of the Law Office.

Stavrou Savvas, PhD Candidate, Department of Politics and Governance, School of Law, University of Nicosia. Savvas Stavrou graduated from the Department of History and Archaeology, University of Cyprus. Mr Stavrou is also a graduate of the Modern and Contemporary History (19th-20th Century) Postgraduate Programme in of the Department of History and Archaeology of the University of Cyprus. Since February 2021 he is a PhD candidate in International Relations and European Studies at the Department of Politics Governance of the School of Law of the University of Nicosia.

Theocharous Stella, Post-Doctoral Research Fellow, Heraclitus Research Centre for Social Research, Cyprus University of Technology. Dr Theocharous has received a doctoral scholarship from the University of Haifa from where she graduated in 2021. Her research focuses on the cultural and historical geographies of public memory and commemoration in Cyprus, on the politics of commemorative (re) naming of streets, and the politics of national identity as reflected in public space. She was a leading member of the RePast project research team that was granted 2.5 million euro in funding for three years (2018-2021) through Horizon 2020.

Yiallourou Salome, Legal Research Officer, Areti Charidemou & Associates LLC. Dr Yiallourou graduated from the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki in 2010, acquiring a degree in Law, and from the University of Bristol in 2011, obtaining an LL.M in European Legal Studies. In 2019 she acquired a PhD in Law from the University of Nicosia for her thesis titled 'The right to property and the economic crisis in Cyprus'. She was a visiting lecturer at the University of Nicosia from 2013 to 2019. In parallel, she became a member of the Cyprus Bar Association in 2012 and has since worked for well-known law firms. In 2019 she joined Areti Charidemou & Associates LLC as a Senior Associate and, in 2021, she was appointed as the firm's Legal Research Officer. Since 2020 she has been a member of the Commission of International and European Law of the Cyprus Bar Association.

